

CV Amanda Lind

Minister for Culture and Democracy, with responsibility for sport

Ministry of Culture

Party

Swedish Green Party

Areas of responsibility

- Culture
- Media
- Democracy
- Civil society
- Language and culture of the Sami people
- National minorities
- Youth policy
- Sport
- Faith communities and burial and cremation services

Personal

Amanda Lind was born in 1980. She lives in Härnosand. Ms Lind is married and has two children and two stepchildren.

Educational background

Psychology Programme, Umeå University	2009
Human Rights, Stockholm School of Theology, Lidingö	2000
Natural Sciences Programme, Midskogs Upper Secondary School, Luleå	1999

Positions and assignments

Minister for Culture and Democracy , with responsibility for sport	2019 –
Party Secretary, Swedish Green Party	2016–2019
Member, Culture and Recreation Committee, Swedish Association of Local Authorities and Regions (SALAR)	2015–2016
Member, Swedish National Council of Adult Education's Representative Body	2015–2016
Municipal Commissioner and First Vice Chair, Härnosand Municipality	2014–2016
Vice Chair, Kulturforum (Culture Forum)	2014–2016

District Chair/Deputy District Chair, Swedish Green Party Västernorrland	2012–2016
Member, Härnösand Municipal Council Chair, Härnösand Municipal Council Community Environment Committee	2011–2018
Spokesperson, Härnösand Green Party	2011–2014
Registered Psychologist, PTP Psychologist (training period), child and adolescent psychiatry, Västernorrland County Council	2010–2016
Member, Härnösand Municipal Council Community Environment Committee	2009–2011
Convener, Umeå Green Party	2008–2010
Member, Municipal Council and Social Welfare Committee, Umeå Municipality	2003–2004
Moderator, Save the Children Sweden	2002–2004
	2002–2003

Following the 2019 change of government,
Sweden is governed by the Swedish Social Democratic Party and the Green Party.

Production: Government Offices of Sweden, Stockholm, Mars 2019
Photo: Kristian Pohl/Government Offices of Sweden